OFFICE OF ENVIRONMENTAL CLEANUP

Captain Patrick Rios
Naval Facilities Engineering Command, NW
Department of the Navy

Silverdale, Washington 98315-1101

Dear Captain Rios:

The U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) has reviewed the Final Five Year Review report dated June 30, 2010, for Naval Magazine Indian Island, Port Hadlock, Washington, and based on our review, concurs with the Navy's findings that the cleanup remedies remain protective of human health and the environment.

While this site has been deleted from the National Priorities List (NPL), Five Year Reviews are required because contaminants have been left in place above levels that allow for unlimited use and unrestricted exposure. I appreciate the efforts your staff has made to work with EPA to reach agreement and finalize this report.

Sincerely,
